Gaps in Income and Wealth

10:12:53 From Mervyn Han to Everyone:

Urvi, is there research on the impact of mass incarceration on the growing gap? It seems that there would be a big impact on labor force participation, both when incarcerated and even when released.

10:17:37 From Yahusef Medina to Everyone:

Are these nationally based statistics or are these local stats? I'm sorry you may have mentioned this earlier and I missed it. Thank you!

10:20:11 From Kristin to Everyone:

Are the gaps between lines demonstrably different in different regions of the country?

10:28:30 From Mervyn Han to Everyone:

I've had the same experience when I put my middle name (a Chinese name) on a resume, including with the same company within a short period of time

10:29:27 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Are there studies where initial resume screening without names and photos leads to less bias?

10:29:52 From Florencia Fuensalida She/Her to Everyone:

Same with Hispanic sounded names (Juan Sanchez, for example)

10:32:19 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Do we have published studies?

10:32:49 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Thanks

10:36:52 From Kim Young to Everyone:

I would image that institutional oppression and capitalism contribute a great deal to the wealth gap

10:39:04 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

When looking at root cause, how much does the discrimination from the racist Housing Act passed by Franklin Roosevelt contribute to the wealth gap?

10:41:00 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Thanks for the facts on that - housing is pushed on everyone for a reason, but there are better alternative investments.

10:42:10 From Cari to Everyone:

Say it louder for people in the back!!!!

10:42:18 From Bailey Martin to Everyone:

I agree that there are better investment options, but wouldn't owning still create more wealth in the long run than renting. You often contribute the same amount or more with no return.

10:42:44 From Florencia Fuensalida She/Her to Everyone:

omg I thought it was the best way to build wealth!!! LOL thanks for giving me some food for thought!!!

10:43:59 From Bailey Martin to Everyone:

That makes sense. Thank you.

10:44:01 From Florencia Fuensalida She/Her to Everyone:

makes sense

10:45:42 From JoAnn Adrales-Ruh to Everyone:

Thank you for talking about the wealth gap. Would you address any debt gap? Personal debt as a percentage of GDP has decreased, even since before COVID. Is there a meaningful difference in that between black and white households?

10:45:44 From Kipton Currier to Everyone:

Very common in European countries to rent. 60% rent in Switzerland and Germany.

10:46:20 From Mervyn Han to Everyone:

Urvi, NYC has had universal pre-K since 2013. How many years until there will be enough data to assess the impact?

10:46:34 From Yahusef Medina to Everyone:

What kind of investments should black/low-income households make? What options are available

10:47:06 From Kim Young to Everyone:

What exactly is bitcoin?! 😊

10:47:44 From Florencia Fuensalida She/Her to Everyone:

I just want to thank you for this thorough, brilliant presentation. It is inspiring to see other women of color rocking it out there! :)

10:48:12 From Patricia A. Perry to Everyone:

Thanks Urvi! Very insightful and informative presentation.

10:49:20 From Scott Dodson (he/him) to Everyone:

Thank you for a wonderful presentation. I really appreciate the amount of data you shared. We have a lot of work to do.

10:49:37 From Cari to Everyone:

How or does the fiscal and monetary policies of our country impact people of color?

10:51:20 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

You were wonderful. I loved this.

10:51:26 From Madison Nardone to Everyone:

11:44:43 From Iefaison to Everyone:
@Kim Young - predatory lending establishments *payday loans, etc.) in banking deserts is such an awful problem.

11:45:25 From Bailey Martin to Everyone:
its that way in all the areas of poverty in the city, Gilpin, Hillside, even Richmond Tpk. No banks from the river to the county line.

11:45:32 From Kim Young to Everyone:

Due to the high rise of unemployment and the number of jobs lost during this time however individuals have seek and gained employment My question is there a time frame needed to indicate long term employment and ongoing income as a qualification of first time home ownership programming

11:49:28 From Kim Young to Everyone:
@toni thanks!

11:50:08 From Faith/ RVA Rapid Transit to Everyone:
United Way- What is your season/process for finding organization to fund this work?

11:50:20 From Toni Maxey -VPLC - LMR 2012 (she/her/hers) to Everyone:
in my opinion, financial literacy should be taught in high schools

11:50:26 From Leslie Crabbs CTTT-RVA to Everyone:
Financial literacy - @Robin Jones!!

11:50:41 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:
Bingo Toni and Leslie. Its disgraceful it is not.

11:51:15 From Patricia A. Perry to Everyone:
@Toni.....financial literacy is apart of the curriculum in certain school districts.....back to Urvi's point, quality education is a differentiator

11:51:26 From Leesa Christian to Everyone:
To what extend is Junior Achievement involved with Richmond Public Schools? I know that they partner with schools to teach financial literacy K-12

11:51:37 From Leesa Christian to Everyone:
*extent

11:55:51 From Kerry Swarr to Everyone:
FYI: "High school students in Virginia must take a one-year Economics and Personal Finance course as a graduation requirement, with the class of 2015 being the first to graduate since its implementation. The class can be taken as a full-year course or as separate semester courses in each subject."

11:56:17 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Kim Young - America along with a majority of other countries in my opinion are built to benefit elitists. If you study history the facts are there to support this. So, despite different economic systems, etc. we should rest assured the old guard will always be the least impacted. Hence why there is this huge fight against ending fiat currency right now. So, I say all that to agree with you that there are elements of this pyramid scheme existing because of those who set the systems.

11:59:19 From Melody Hackney to Everyone:

Financial Literacy is a course requirement in VA for graduation from high school. It's not enough, but it is a start.

12:00:12 From Kristin to Everyone:

When we say financial literacy do we really mean ability to navigate too complex regulations and systems? Filing tax returns to qualify for benefits, needing to learn the investment markets in order to have a pension or retirement savings....etc.?

12:00:25 From JoAnn Adrales-Ruh to Everyone:

As I understood it, our previous speaker from the Fed stated briefly but emphatically that data shows that homeownership is not a tool for wealth building. What are your thoughts on that?

12:02:49 From Kim Young to Everyone:

Current power structures do not want people to know how money works. Controlling information about money is tool to uphold capitalism & systemic oppression.

12:04:42 From Jamaal Ellison to Everyone:

@Kim Bingo!!!

12:04:55 From Kim Young to Everyone:

All of this is intentionally overly complicated

12:06:14 From Patricia A. Perry to Everyone:

@Kim, you nailed it - it's designed to perpetuate the haves and have nots.....and create a "dependency"

12:07:02 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:

Bingo Kim. My only caveat is I do not think it matters what system. Capitalism, Socialism, Communism. Elitists are gonna elite. They will use any system to benefit their desired outcomes.

12:07:39 From Meldon Jenkins-Jones She, Her to Everyone:

Patrick, so true!

12:08:17 From Marisa Day to Everyone:

@kim and @patrick - absolutely 🍌🍌🍌

12:08:24 From Kim Young to Everyone:

@ Patrick I can dig that perspective, thanks for sharing!

12:08:24 From Mervyn Han to Everyone:

I think the speaker's message is that housing can build wealth, but isn't always the answer. It depends on a lot of factors and there are lots of trade-offs.

12:09:12 From Meldon Jenkins-Jones She, Her to Everyone:

Merwyn, you're exactly right.

12:09:27 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:
What about when evaluating life cycle cost of home ownership versus rental?

12:09:57 From Florencia Fuensalida She/Her to Everyone:
stress affects health and decision making skills so much

12:11:18 From Leesa Christian to Everyone:
Are those references for similar neighborhoods? (The rent vs. home)

12:11:29 From Scott Dodson (he/him) to Everyone:
How will individuals benefit from the wealth they gain from their homes if they become unable to afford living/parking/working/shopping/etc... in their neighborhoods?

12:11:39 From Patrick Duke to Everyone:
Super, super panel. You all do great work. Thanks you.

12:11:42 From Kim Young to Everyone:
Stress, depression, anxiety are all high...living should not be as stressful and expensive as it is!
