

Trustbuilding as a Tool for Change

Take a few minutes and reflect on the following questions. Be prepared to share your thoughts.

- Why might it be important to build trust across differences in your role as a leader?
- When you think about your work and/or your community, where has trust been broken, and between whom?
- When you think about building trust within your community or between your community and another, what are the biggest barriers?
- What are your five best qualities or strengths as a leader?
- Put a “+” next to those qualities that are helpful in building trust across differences, and a “-” next to those that might make it more difficult.
